PORT OF CALL

An elegant oasis has reemerged on Fisherman's Wharf with the recently redesigned Hotel Zoe. After a multimillion-dollar update of its interior design, guestrooms, suites and courtyard space, the luxury boutique hotel is poised to be the destination for adventure travelers looking for an elevated Wharf experience.

The interior décor was designed by David Lasker and Gino Castaño, the principals of San Francisco-based interior design firm Paletteur. Warm-wood tones, linear elements and a muted palette accentuate the crisp, clean interiors. The 400-square-foot Zoe Suite—the most luxurious—is modeled on a contemporary yacht with bold geometric gestures throughout. A full-size fireplace makes it perfect for a romantic getaway.

The property's newly constructed Bar Zoe, inside the main lobby, complements the hotel's existing modern Italian restaurant, Pescatore. hotelzoesf.com
